Taylor Community and Wright Museum to Honor the ‘Greatest Generation’

On September 15, The Last Good War: The Faces and Voices of World War II exhibit opens at Wright Museum, an occasion that has attracted the attention of Taylor Community, which is now sponsoring it.

The exhibit features photographs of World War II veterans by Thomas Sanders, who traveled the nation to record in pictures and words experiences from those who fought the “last good war.”

“It is our pleasure to partner with Wright Museum and help bring this special exhibit to the Lakes Region,” said Taylor Community’s Gretchen Gandini. “What an honor it is to help highlight the sacrifices the Greatest Generation made to preserve our freedom and give us the world in which we live today.”

According to museum Executive Director Mike Culver, the ‘Greatest Generation’ is a term often used to describe those who fought in World War II or whose labor helped win it.

“This is a moving exhibit, and one that is going to be particularly moving for those at Taylor Community, many of whom are part of this Greatest Generation,” he said. “This is a special partnership.”

Gandini agreed and said she is just as excited that several museum staff members, including Culver, will visit Taylor Community residents in both Wolfeboro and Laconia to deliver enrichment experiences.

“This partnership reflects our goal to be the premier resource for social, educational and cultural opportunities for elders throughout the Lakes Region by promoting wellness, partnership, and participation in the community,” she said.

“All of us at the Wright love to travel to places like Taylor Community and share the stories that mean so much to us all,” he said.

The Last Good War: The Faces and Voices of World War II opens September 15 and runs through the end of the museum’s season on October 31.

George Lopez, Robert Beckwith Artist-in-Residence at Bowdoin College, has been a dynamic performer and educator for over 25 years. He is known on several continents for his thoughtful and deeply expressive performances of the standard repertoire as well as being a champion of newly-written works. He recently premiered a piano concerto composed especially for him and is comfortable in styles of music ranging from jazz and ragtime to more contemporary improvisational styles.

Lopez has given recitals and performed in chamber ensembles and with orchestras in the United States, Europe, and Australia. His interpretation of Bach’s Goldberg Variations at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam received critical acclaim, and a Los Angeles Times critic hailed the pianist for his “…musical perspective, continuity, and kaleidoscopic colors.”

Born in Brooklyn to Mayan parents, George Lopez spent his childhood in Belize, before his family moved to Texas, where he began to play the piano at the rather late age of 11. He quickly discovered that he had a knack performing at the keyboard and, by age 14, he had won his first concerto competition; only two years later, he received a full scholarship to the Hartt School of Music. A Franco-American study grant permitted graduate work in Paris, and he completed his Master’s Degree cum laude at the Sweelinck Conservatory, Amsterdam.

This year, he has toured Philadelphia, New York City, the Bay Area, Seattle, Mexico and New England, as well as making his first visit to Cuba recently to give masterclasses and concerts with the Aries Trio. His "Music in the Museum" series at Bowdoin College has consistently sold out to audiences who enjoy his creative and engaging lecture recitals on the relationship of music to art and ideas. He has also taken up the baton as conductor of the Bowdoin College Symphony Orchestra.

He is also a member of the Barossa Quintet, and has performed with other groups including the Chicago Chamber Musicians, Fulcrum Point, Pilgrim Chamber Players and The Chicago Ensemble. Educational outreach programs have included those for the Ravinia Festival and the International Music Foundation.

Mr. Garcia-Montoya completed his Master’s degree at Rice University, where he received the Michael Hammond President’s Scholarship award. He also earned a Bachelor’s degree from Baylor University and a Professional Studies Diploma from the Cleveland Institute of Music. From its links to breast and brain cancer, to its associations with increased infertility and genetic mutations related to autism and ADHD, to newly developed illnesses, such as Electrical Hyper-Sensitivity (EHS). Today we encounter a hundred thousand times the level of radiation from wireless technologies than we did decades ago. Yet the safety standards set by federal regulatory agencies are outdated. New wireless devices such as smartphones, tablets and baby monitors to the latest “Internet of Things” continue to enter the market without any proper pre-market testing or post-market monitoring. Too little is done to ensure public safety and awareness. So how can we uncover the facts and reduce our exposure to limit the associated health risks during this technological revolution? GENERATION ZAPPED attempts to do just that. Join us for this informative lecture to be held at Woodside, 6:30pm.

Thursday – July 11 – Boxing with Heidi Lehr – Details on Page 6. Contact Heather to sign up at 366-1405 or hjoubert@taylorcommunity.org. Fitness Center, 8:30am.

Can you tell scientific fact from fiction or will you fall prey to the snake oil hucksters of today? Mike Cross - Associate Professor of Chemistry - is department chair of Natural Sciences at Northern Essex Community College where he teaches chemistry and forensic science. A rift in the family develops when the sisters develop relationships and an obnoxious woman (Raquel Welch) sets her sights on Martin's affections. Woodside Theater, 2pm.

Wednesday – July 24 – New Horizons Band – The New Horizons Musical Organization of the Lakes Region promotes "music for life" by creating band performance opportunities for adult musicians who seek to make beautiful music together, for the enjoyment of members and audiences alike. Woodside, 7pm.

Thursday – July 25 – July Opera: Les Pêcheurs de Perles (The Pearl Fisherman) – Les Pêcheurs de Perles is an opera in three acts by the French composer Georges Bizet, to a libretto by Eugène Cormon and Michel Carré. It was premiered on 30 September 1863 at the Théâtre Lyrique in Paris, and was given 18 performances in its initial run. Set in ancient times on the island of Ceylon, the opera tells the story of how two men's vow of eternal friendship is threatened by their love for the same woman, whose own dilemma is the conflict between secular love and her sacred oath as a priestess. The friendship duet "Au fond du temple saint," generally known as "The Pearl Fishers Duet," is one of the best-known in Western opera. Reservations are required by emailing Brenda Kean at bkean@taylorcommunity.org or calling 366-1226. Wright Museum Presentation—WWII Propaganda: Patriotism, Posters and the Power of Persuasion
Propaganda posters are one of the most lasting visual reminders of World War II, with iconic images like Rosie the Riveter still being used today. Yet the poster was not the only means of communication used to gain the support of the American public for the Allied war effort. This talk will explore the history of American propaganda with examples of the various media used by the U.S. Government and private publishers.

Our Presenter, Justin Gamache, is curator at the Wright Museum of World War II. A graduate of the University of New Hampshire, Justin earned his B.A. in history studying the history of modern Europe, the United States, and World War II. He earned his M.A. in Museum Studies at UNH in 2018. His program on WWII Propaganda was most recently presented at the Rochester (NH) Public Library in conjunction with the discovery of a long-forgotten collection of WWI and WWII posters. Please join us Thursday, July 18 at 2pm.

We don’t, however, wish to discourage or prevent anyone from attending the Breakfasts. Please let Dining Services Director Moe Memmolo or Chef Jason Seavey know your thoughts. Contact information for both gentlemen is provided at the top of the menu page of your Gazette.
