Dear Taylor Community,

As you have likely heard, Governor Sununu has issued a Stay-at-Home order directing all non-essential businesses to end in-person and public-interacting operations by midnight tonight, Friday, March 27th. This order will remain in effect until May 4th.

What does this mean for Taylor Community? Well, from a workforce and operational standpoint, it does not change anything. Taylor Community is considered an essential business and all Taylor employees are essential employees. We will continue to serve our residents tomorrow just as we are today, following the stringent health and safety protocols that we have already implemented at the recommendation of the CDC, State, and Federal government.

What this Stay-at-Home order does reinforce for our independent residents, however, is that you should not be welcoming casual visitors to your homes. As well, it means that you should stay at home unless you find it absolutely necessary to leave for the grocery store, pharmacy, or medically necessary doctors appointments. The doors to the Woodside Gym and Fitness Center will also be locked to assure that no residents are using it. Of course, along with the Governor, we encourage you to go outside and enjoy the fresh air to exercise while practicing safe social distancing. This means maintaining a distance of at least 6 feet from others and avoiding group activities.

As a reminder, our awesome TaylorCare team is offering free grocery shopping services Monday, Wednesday & Friday, and our talented Woodside Bistro crew is offering Take out and delivery services (Monday—Friday 11:30—2 p.m.) and an expanded offering of General Store items (Saturday and Sunday 11:00—1 p.m.).

I know that we will get through this together, and I am confident that we will come out on the other side of this a stronger community. As always, please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions or we can support you in any way. We are here for you.

Stay safe and wash those hands,

Michael

When this is over,
 may we never again
 take for granted
 A handshake with a stranger
 Full shelves at the store
 Conversations with neighbors
 A crowded theatre
 Friday night out
 The taste of communion
 A routine checkup
 The school rush each morning
 Coffee with a friend
 The stadium roaring
 Each deep breath
 A boring Tuesday
 Life itself.

When this ends,
 may we find that we have become more like the people we wanted to be we were called to be we hoped to be and may we stay
 that way—better for each other because of the worst.

THE BUS AND THE ZIPPER
 - Courtesy of Resident Dick Wolfe

In a crowded city at a busy bus stop, a woman who was waiting for a bus was wearing a tight leather skirt. As the bus stopped and it was her turn to get on, she became aware that her skirt was too tight to allow her leg to come up to the height of the first step of the bus.

Slightly embarrassed and with a quick smile to the bus driver, she reached behind to unzip her skirt a little, thinking that this would give her enough slack to raise her leg. Again, she tried to make the step only to discover she still couldn’t.

So, a little more embarrassed, she once again reached behind her to unzip her skirt a little more, and for the second time attempted the step, and, once again, much to her chagrin, she could not raise her leg. With a little smile to the driver, she again reached behind to unzip a little more and again was unable to make the step.

About this time, a large Texan who was standing behind her picked her up easily by the waist and placed her gently on the step of the bus. She went ballistic and turned to the would-be good Samaritan and screeched, “How dare you touch my body! I don’t even know who you are!”

The Texan smiled and drawled, “Well, Ma’am, normally I would agree with you, but after you unzipped my fly three times, I kinda figured we were friends.”

ED SOUCY’S TRIVIA:

More Money Stuff...

During the Civil War, hard money was again in short supply and the United State Treasury had to do something to prevent problems in the economy. They came up with the idea to print paper money which was in fractional denominations—amounts less than a dollar. The Treasury had begun to print paper money but due to counterfeiting problems, it realized that printing a full size 10 cent note would easily lead to it being tampered with and passed as a $10 bill. So, they came up with the idea to make this fractional currency small, much smaller than today’s currency. It was printed in many denominations, with many different and colorful designs and in several series. It was successful and not counterfeited as much as higher denomination bills and printing of it continued until 1867 when the economy had recovered from the war and hard currency was again available. The value of these small bills ranges today from a few dollars to about $100 as most were widely used and are in very used condition.
