PASTA SELECTION

DELI - EMPTY AND CLOSED

QUANTITY LIMITS

Dear Taylor Community,

This morning in her virtual programming newsletter, Taylor's Director of Resident Life, Brenda Kean, shared her experience going to the grocery store. I think it perfectly illustrates how different the world around us is operating right now and, with her permission, I am re-sharing it with all of you:

“As many of you are utilizing TaylorCare’s Grocery Shopping Service, I imagine it has been some time since you were last in the market. My husband has been doing all of the grocery shopping for our home, so it has been a long time for me as well! So, to gain a better understanding of how the market now operates, the lack of availability of product and/or selections, new procedures in place and the difficulties in general, I decided to take a trip for myself. Donning my rubber gloves, face mask and carrying my hand sanitizer, I entered Hannaford – now limited to just the right-hand door for entry. As soon as I enter, I see a market employee sitting at a desk in front of the shopping carts dispensing hand sanitizer and wipes to disinfect the shopping cart handles. I enter the produce area to find very limited produce (giving me great appreciation for what is available on a regular basis through the Bistro) and green arrows everywhere on the floor telling me in which direction I may and may not proceed. Strolling through the market, I discover that the most limited selections appear to be in the baking, soup, pasta, paper product and soap aisles. The Delicatessen (which took me four attempts to access due to the limiting directional arrows) and the fish market as we know it, no longer exist. This area is completely empty...and closed. There are signs and instructions on the floor, in the aisles and at the checkout as well as notifications limiting quantity purchase of certain items. There are some areas of the store where shoppers are permitted only one at a time and there are blockades to prevent shoppers from going “against traffic.” Now that I have completed this shopping “excursion” and have experienced first-hand what my “at-home” shopper and our amazing TaylorCare Shoppers are experiencing EVERY day, I applaud them ... loudly ... for their patience, perseverance and willingness to do all the shopping that they do!”

My thanks to Brenda for sharing her experience and helping me to publicly thank our very busy TaylorCare shoppers for their efforts during this extraordinary time. Your work is very much appreciated!

Be well, look out for one another, please keep washing those hands,

Michael

JOKE OF THE DAY

Courtesy of Resident Fred Neinas

Shortly after take-off on an outbound, evening Aer Lingus flight from Dublin to Boston, the lead flight attendant nervously made the following painful announcement in her lovely Irish brogue:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I'm so very sorry, but it appears that there has been a terrible mix-up by our catering service. I don't know how this has happened, but we have 103 passengers on board, and unfortunately, we received only 40 dinner meals. I truly apologize for this mistake and inconvenience."

When the muttering of the passengers had died down, she continued, "Anyone who is kind enough to give up their meal so that someone else can eat, will receive free and unlimited drinks for the duration of our 10 hour flight."

Her next announcement came about 2 hours later: "If anyone is hungry, we still have 40 dinners available."

CLARIFICATION: WOODSIDE GIFT SHOP

We apologize for the confusion. As was published in the Taylor Gazette, the Woodside Gift Shop is open, but it is only accessible to Woodside Residents at this time. As a reminder, the Woodside Building is only open to Woodside Residents, with the exception of scheduled appointments for use of the Woodside Gym.

Should you have a need for greeting cards or stamps, please call Maureen Ballester at 366-1236. We will be happy to deliver you an assorted package of greeting cards to choose from and books of stamps.

SATURDAY SAL'S PIZZA DELIVERY UPDATE

If you placed an order for Pizza on Saturday, please know that Team Taylor will be delivering pizzas as they're ready from Sal's between 4-6 PM on Saturday. Yum!

WE ARE FEELING THE LOVE!

Thank you to a grateful resident for sharing this lovely sentiment for all Taylor Community staff to see. Please know that the feeling is mutual. It is our pleasure to work here at Taylor Community and serve all of you!
