NEIGHBORHOOD EXERCISE CLASSES: Our Wellness Team was busy yesterday hosting pop-up exercise classes. Here are some of our Kinsman Drive residents having fun and working hard.

"Individual commitment to a group effort—that is what makes a team work, a company work, a society work, a civilization work." --Vince Lombardi

Dear Taylor Community,

When the times called for the closing of local schools, daycare centers and all group fitness classes here at Taylor Community, our Wellness Team adapted. They helped us open a temporary daycare center for employees' children. They also became universal workers, regularly supporting residents with weekly grocery shopping. Quite simply, they went way out of their comfort zones and job descriptions. They are great examples of Team Taylor employees who continually step up and support our residents and one another.

And so yesterday it was especially thrilling to see our Wellness Team back doing what they love—hosting exercise classes in neighborhoods around campus. Beginning next week, they will be hosting a full schedule of outdoor classes under our awesome new Pavilion and at the outdoor fire pit area behind Woodside. We are fortunate to have such a creative and caring Wellness Team here at Taylor Community. They continue to make the best of these times and are always finding ways to help our residents stay active and strong.

My continued thanks to our Wellness Team and all of Team Taylor for their extraordinary efforts.

Be safe, take care of one another, and please keep washing those hands.

JOKE OF THE DAY Courtesy of a Resident Funnyman

A young boy walks into a barber's shop and the barber whispers to the customer he's currently attending, "This kid has got to be the dumbest kid in the world. Watch and I'll prove it to you."

The barber then puts a dollar bill in one hand and two quarters in the other, then he says to the boy, 'Hey kid, which do you want the dollar bill or the quarters?' The boy decides to take the quarters and then he leaves the shop.

"What did I tell you?" said the barber. "That dumb kid never learns!"

Later, when the customer is leaving the barber's shop he sees the same kid coming out of the ice cream store. "Hey, kid! May I ask you a question?" asks the customer. "Why did you take the quarters instead of the dollar bill?"

The boy licks his ice cream for a moment before saying, "Because the day I take the dollar bill the game is over!"

THURSDAY FUNNIES

Every ten years in the Monastery, the monks were allowed to break their vow of silence to speak just two words. With ten years gone by, Brother John gets his first chance to speak. He thinks for a second and then says, "Food bad."

Another ten years go by and again Brother John has an opportunity to speak briefly and on this occasion he says, "Bed hard."

A further decade later, it's the big day once more. However this time Brother John gives the head monk a long stare before saying, "I quit."

To which the head monk responds, "I'm not surprised. You've been complaining ever since you got here."
