

“It’s great! I even have the heat on this morning.”
– Karydan McNutt

Dear Taylor Community,

From the moment she arrived on campus, Team Taylor’s Karydan McNutt has been a positive presence and diligent employee, greeting and doing symptoms checks for all who arrive on campus. Throughout the summer, she and the team working the front entrance have been stationed out in the elements, at a table under a temporary tent.

When it became apparent a couple of months ago that symptoms checks at the front entrance are here to stay for a while, VP of Facilities Kirk Beswick started to explore options for a semi-permanent, weather-proof structure. Last week, our new front entrance enclosure arrived. Equipped with power, heat & air conditioning, this new addition to campus is a cost efficient solution that allows staff who are doing symptoms checks at the front entrance to be protected from the elements.

As we adjust to an undetermined amount of time doing symptoms checks at our front entrance, I want to pause and thank Kirk for finding a solution that makes fiscal sense and ensures that staff are comfortable as the weather gets colder. I also want to thank our many universal workers and facilities staff who have taken on this new task here at Taylor Community. We appreciate you.

Be safe, wear a mask, and please keep washing your hands.

JOKE OF THE DAY

Courtesy of a Resident Funnywoman

A woman is out golfing. Playing off the first tee, she's not quite got her swing right and she slices the ball on her first attempt and watches it disappear deep into the woods. Not a great start she thinks. So she trudges off looking for her ball. As she's scratching around in the woods she can't find her ball but she does find a frog stuck in a trap.

The frog is relieved to have finally been discovered, having been stuck there for quite some time. So the frog says to the woman, "Lady, if you release me from this trap, I will grant you three wishes." Now who wouldn't want three wishes? So the woman immediately frees the frog. The frog is grateful but then says, "Lady, thank you. I appreciate your help. However I failed to mention that there will be a condition to your wishes." A little puzzled, the woman asks, "And what's that?"

"Well" says the frog, "Whatever you wish for, your husband will also receive but multiplied by a factor of ten!"

The woman thinks for a minute and then says, "That's fine." Then for her first wish she says, "I want to be the most beautiful woman in the world." The frog smiles but warns her, "You do realize that this wish will also make your husband the most handsome man in the world? He will be an Adonis and no woman will be able to resist his charms."

The woman thinks for a minute and then says, "That's alright, because I will be the most beautiful woman in the world, so he will only have eyes for me." With that there is a 'Poof' sound and the woman is immediately transformed into the most beautiful woman in the world. The frog then says, "And for your second wish? What would you like?" For her second wish the woman says, "I want to be the richest woman in the world." Once again the frog feels compelled to issue a warning. "Lady, this will make your husband the richest man in the world. And he will be ten times richer than you." The woman says, "That's fine. We're married, so what's mine is his and what's his is mine."

Once again there is a 'Poof' sound and the woman is suddenly the richest woman in the world. The frog then says, "Right, it's now time for your final wish. What will it be?" The woman replies, "I'd like a mild heart attack."
